Hope Enough to Make Work

A Pleasure

Strength Enough to Battle Difficulties, Overcome Them

Patience Enough to Toil
Until Some Good Is Accomplished

Faith Enough to Make
Real the Things Of God

In the 60's, teen-agers learned that times grow more difficult and that education is necessary for satisfactory achievement.

Horace Mann School was an important factor in the educating of many Gary youth. Located in the western section of the city, the institution offered curricula for general and college preparatory students.

Many friendships grew among faculty and students through the variety of classes offered at school. Extra-curricular activities brought groups of teen-agers closer together with one ideal: promise of fulfillment. Promise means opportunity-fulfillment means attainment. Everyone strove to attain; for this was accomplishment, success, fulfillment. Meeting of obligations in studies, attending or performing in football, basketball games, writing term papers or speaking French crowded the days.

When the time came to choose between social and serious moments, the choice was carefully made. Students wanted time to look and time to care, time to prove themselves as worthy persons.

As new students enrolled at Horace Mann, graduates who had accepted the promise of high school and felt the satisfaction of success left, learning and seeking the challenges of new tomorrows in universities or in the world of business.

Those who left went with pride and humility, grateful for The Promise of Mann.

Promise of Achievement

- ACADEMICS:

- We desire to learn,
We strive to fulfill our dreams,
And there is so much.

English Curriculum Tries New Approach

Linguistics, the study of words, was introduced to English students in seventh and tenth grades. Newly adopted textbooks with a linguistic slant aided junior and senior school students in understanding grammar.

Literature offerings underwent change. Paperbacks, such as the Diary of Anne Frank and The Old Man and the Sea supplemented prescribed courses and anthologies used as texts.

English III and IV classes concentrated on success in writing. Managing thoughts on paper with clarity and economy kept juniors and seniors at their writing.

Miss Lynn Ludewig, Miss Sandra Gibbs, Mrs. Stella Bentley, Miss Janet Jensen, Miss Danise Vossos, who had practiced teaching with Mrs. Dorothy Goldman last year, and Mr. William Wagner, all new teachers, aided students in mastering the two new approaches.

Caesar, Dominic Sapone, dies again for sophomore English classes; Conspirators are John Vaughn, Linda Williams, Henry McGee, and Diane Martinson.

Works of Greek art are displayed by Miss Monnix for World Literature.

Shellee Burrows defends a paper to which she has applied disciplines for gaining objectivity in her writing.

Sue Wallace, Sue Gillette, Rhea Appel, Bill Johnson, Ros Weiner, and Bob Poogach discuss Greek Philosophy in English IV class.

Don Zolper searches the card catalog for a book he has been assigned.

Miss Jensen explains a linguistic tree to her students.

Practical, Career Mathematics Available

Mathematics taught pupils to solve everyday problems and prepared interested students for careers.

Because of lack of government funds, computer math was not offered this year. Courses continued for interested high school students at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

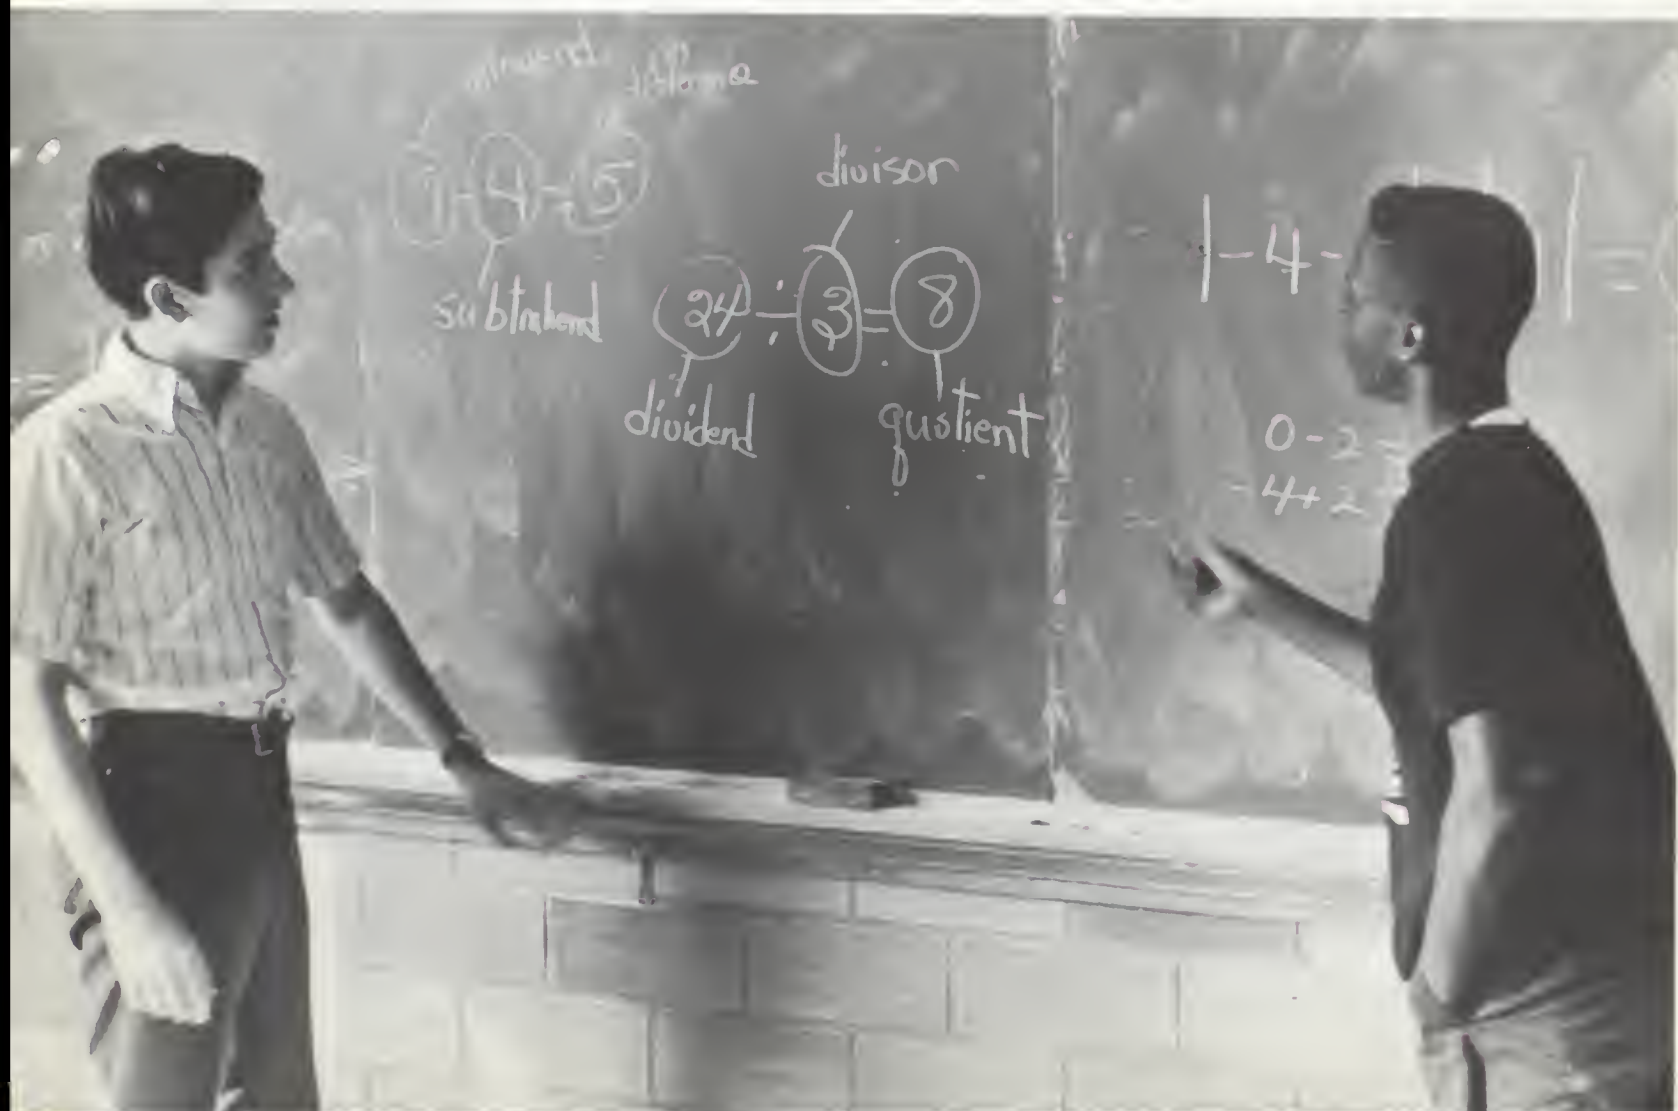

Students needing assistance in mathematics received aid at the math clinic. Tutored by fellow students, they were able to overcome their difficulties.

New teachers added to the staff were Mr. Lee Robinson, known as coach to former physical education students, taught eighth grade math. Mr. Robert Justin taught seventh and eighth grade math along with Mr. Robert Rhymes.

Beth Hogg plots the graph of an ellipse in Algebra II.

Pete Peronis and Dave Bryant explain the processes of Arithmetic.

Mr. Williams explains coordinates for Gayle Fromm and Debbie Noak.

Jerry Wilborne, Larry Bingham, Pam Edwards and Susan Rosch examine geometric figures.

Mr. Zawada clears up some problems for Joe Binkley in eighth grade math.

Science Learnings Based on Experiments

Practical and physical sciences provide a varied curriculum for science students. Seventh, eighth and ninth graders experimented in the practical sciences; tenth, eleventh and twelfth graders studied physical sciences.

Microscopes were used by seventh and eighth graders in training for biology. They observed specimens and various forms of life and described what they saw.

Biology and advanced biology stressed genetics, heredity, and different branches of life science.

Through experiments, chemistry students observe the behavior of elements. Physics students worked with motion studies.

Dave Tallos and Perry Jones learn to work carefully and observe keenly as they dissect a frog in Biology.

Clifford Kraft does an experiment in chem study decanting water from a silver solution.

Kenneth Wallace and Nancy Mitchell measure tape used in velocity experiment.

Greg Isley and John Baron check free falling objects for acceleration and time graph.

John Baron, Bill Johnson and Greg Isley gauge tape for plotting on graphs.

German Pupils Write Deutsch Newspaper

Composing a newspaper was a new project for third and fourth year Germans. Containing news of German students, Die deutsch Zeitung provided German students with extra reading and writing practice.

Students studying French and Spanish participated in a new program stressing speaking and reading.

Spanish four and five classes concentrated on poetry and stories of Spanish people using the Coloquious system, while three, four, and five French pupils employed the Parler Et Ecrire series, a collection of accounts of the French people.

Besides learning to read and to write the language, Latin students studied English vocabulary derived from Latin. Short stories in Latin provided pleasure reading; Greek and Roman culture were subjects of serious study.

Rosemary Sanchez displays "Aurelio", the pinata, a gift to the Spanish class from a former student. On the chalkboard is the Kennedy family tree written in Spanish.

Kris Clifton models a poncho and a shawl acquired on a trip to Mexico.

French III students watch a weekly Je Parle Francais movie to which they will respond in dialogue style.

Joe Morris and Steve Todorich display a sign meaning "Hello, friends" in Latin I.

Miss Georgia Bopp helps Nancy Weiss and Debbie Evans pronounce a difficult German sound, the umlaut.

German students take part in listening and responding to a dialogue.

Political Classics Replace History Texts

Mr. Paul Carlson's Advanced Placement United States History course, offered to qualified juniors, substituted three political classics—The American Republic, A Diplomatic History of the American People, and A Documentary History of the American People—for the conventional textbook. A clearer view of the nation's past was the reason for this change.

European History, a new course also of advanced placement difficulty, was taught by Mr. William Stern, who expected his students to have a reasonably detailed knowledge of European history from 1500 to 1945. Students selected an era within that time for intensive study. The book employed was Civilization Past and Present; outside readings were part of the course. Pupils received grades on a five to one scale on the Advanced Placement Test.

Students enjoy an informal discussion in European History, a new course at Horace Mann.

Victor Cucuz, president-elect "Nixon" in a social studies class, gives his acceptance speech.

Jannis Dilworth gazes thoughtfully at a sample ballot from the 1968 Presidential election.

In the U. S. History Advanced Placement course, students find no shortage of books.

Carl Wilkerson uses a globe to plan a dream trip to Europe.

Lindsey Gullett sorts cards against time as Joel Routman records his efficiency. Ten chances and the rules are changed in this psychological experiment.

New Librarian Distributes Reading Lists

Coming from Portage High School, Mrs. Karen Fites filled the position of librarian for Miss Leota Janes, who was on leave for study. Mrs. Fites distributed lists of new titles to the faculty to implement reading lists already in use.

Miss Janine Czarnecki emphasized simple resource materials.

Pupils attending the junior library were concerned with reference books and their uses.

Because of the strong emphasis placed on term papers and research projects, both teachers instructed students in use of helpful aids found in the library. Knowing how to find books using the card catalog and the Dewey Decimal system was stressed.

Rosa Dominguez consults an unabridged dictionary and is disgusted when she finds so many meanings for one word.

Library Assistant Dolly Lou Martinson finds information in magazines.

Students study and read for fun in the Senior Library.

Mrs. Shirley Shaevel shows Gordon Lind examples of style in painting.

Miss Mary Clark directs her advanced choir class in some warm-up exercises.

Fine Arts Seek to Complement Education

Donna Cutler and Marie Del Busto practice pencil sketching in art class.

Necessary for the attainment of a well-rounded education are the Fine Arts: music, drama, speech, graphic arts and sculpture.

To help students toward understanding art, appreciation was accented. Interpretation, essential in creating and comprehending artistic works, was taught through modern art.

In the music department, General Music offered a view of the field. For those wishing more advanced study, courses requiring talent and technique together with Music Appreciation and Theory and Harmony were available.

Speech classes emphasized improvement of voice and diction. Students electing these courses practiced extemporaneous speaking, storytelling, and debate.

Introducing pupils to drama through impromptu play reading and interpretation was a task of the Drama department. Mr. Gary McKim taught drama classes and directed Drama Club.

Mrs. Donna Mills explains how to use phonetics to Tom Vlamos, Gregory Hite, Bob Rodriguez and Robert Maldonado.

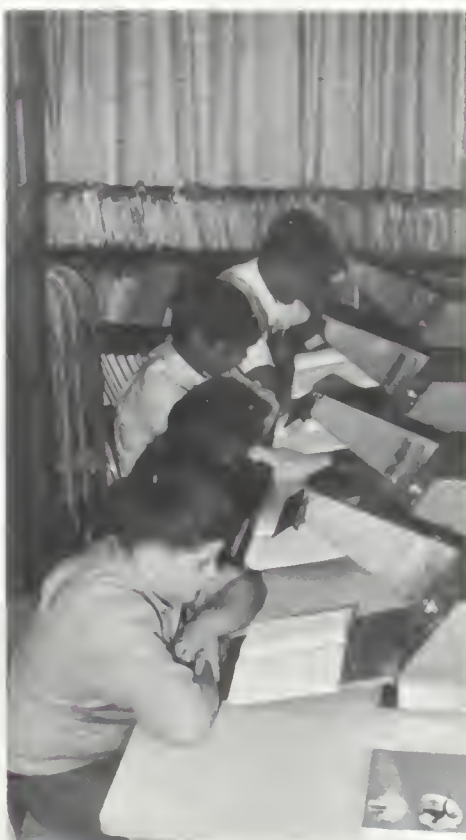

Reading Needed in Every Type of Study

Individual Developmental Reading is designed to improve reading skills and comprehension of students having difficulty with reading. Since reading is a necessary part of every course, pupils must be able to read well.

Students' test scores and teachers' recommendations aided Mrs. Mills in selecting her classes.

Greg, Robert and Tom test their reading comprehension.

Tom, Greg, Robert and Bob pace their reading by using shadowsopes.

Bob, Robert, Greg and Tom browse through the reading material available to IDR students.

Students Informed for Greater Safety

Richard Komenich practices the art of making a sling on Rick Galic.

Knowledge as the best safeguard against injury was the philosophy of courses in Driver's Training and Health and Safety. Teachers instructed pupils so that they could cope with most emergency situations.

Health and Safety concentrated on teaching functions and needs of the human body. Consequences of smoking, drinking, and narcotics were explained in classwork and films.

Driver's Training, required for graduation without credit, related information on the functioning of motor vehicles as well as operating skills. After obtaining beginner's permits, students signed up from study halls for a five-week period of lessons. Pupils received booklets and mimeographed sheets containing the rules of the road.

Jeff Landsman administers artificial respiration to Jim Piker.

Nadine Dobbins sees results of poor driving and is inspired to practice safe driving habits.

Hilda Perez and Tina Bamis change a tire on the driver training car.

Lonnie Kaplan has trouble trying to feed Ricky Sanchez.

Terre Pettis, Diethrice Taylor, Maria Panjoitis, Delia Serranos, Maria George from cooking class mix their ingredients for hot cocoa.

Sanchez Baby Visits Home Nursing Class

Richard Sanchez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sanchez, made his debut in Mrs. Vlasta Carmichael's home nursing class. His visit was beneficial in providing students with experience in feeding and clothing an infant.

Modern Living, a branch of home nursing, confronted pupils with problems found by parents in child-raising.

Clothing students, with the assistance of Miss Florene Gooch, new home economics teacher, presented a fashion show on November 17 in the auditorium. Young seamstresses modeled their ensembles before parent spectators.

First and second-year foods classes concentrated on simple foods such as salads. More advanced chefs in third and fourth year foods planned and prepared balanced meals.

Pam Carter, Gaye Harold, Miss Gooch and Pam Flack help Diane Drake begin her outfit for the fashion show.

Ricky ignores the rattle and the inexperienced hands of Norma Chavez and Lavonia Patterson.

Business Courses Focus on Employment

Busy Danny Cruz practices business transactions suggested in a general business kit.

Judy Lindsey gets special instructions as her classmates try the adding machines.

Not so nimble, Art Katz gets his index finger caught in the typewriter as Phyllis Lee and Rosa Santos watch.

General Business, Shorthand, Business Law, Typing, Bookkeeping, and Clerical Practice are important in equipping students for employment. By teaching these skills, the pupils for job competition.

Helping students find work is a function of Cooperative-on-the-Job training. Under the direction of Mr. William Coon, Co-op teacher, students met academic requirements on a half-day schedule at Mann and worked a half day under school employers' supervision.

Mrs. Barbara Iglehart, typing instructor, joined the business faculty this year.

Linda Williams searches for an important paper in the file, using techniques taught in General Business course.

Dan Danny Bowman rivets handle on tool box in Metal Shop.

Marc Carter operates the horizontal milling machine in Metal Shop.

Students Gain Manual Skills in Shops

Training students in mechanical skills necessary to many jobs, industrial arts courses consisted of mechanical drawing, wood shop, electric shop, and metal shop. A variety of projects including telegraphs in electric shop, lamp stands in wood shops and ash trays in metal shops provided students with useful and creative experience in working with their hands.

Pupils in junior high elected exploratory courses in two of the four shops; high school students specialized. Mr. George Dimos, new to the faculty, instructed wood shop.

Mechanical drawing students use class hour to work on individual projects.

Fitness Accomplished With Sportsmanship

Mike Sangerman, Robert Lawrence and Chuck Dethloff use their heads in gym.

Echoes of shouts and cheers resounded as boys and girls participated in physical education classes.

Swimming, baseball, basketball and other sports built strong bodies. Gymnastics helped students achieve physical fitness. Sportsmanship and cooperation were practiced in activities involving team effort.

Two years of physical education were required for graduation.

Coach Elser awaits the outcome of the game.

Coach Elser Completes Successful Career

After starring as an athlete in high school, Coach Don Elser continued his education at Notre Dame where he won nine letters in track, football and basketball. Coming to Horace Mann in 1941, he coached his initial football squad to a 5-5 record. After a four-year absence in the Navy, he returned to the first of twenty-three consecutive years at the gridiron helm. During his tenure, he produced a 107-104-11 slate, becoming one of few coaches to reach the century triumph total. His teams achieved conference crowns in 1961 and 1965. Coach Elser served as a Big Ten Basketball and football official.

Committee service for Coach Elser included Honor Society, Scholarship, and Building and Grounds groups. For several years he directed Grand Marches for juniors and their guests at spring proms. Teachers' banquets, where Coach presided as master of ceremonies, were enlivened and made cheerful by his fund of stories.

His hope that all go well with Mann students and faculty will be cherished by those who knew him.

Coach Don Elser

Superintendent McAndrew Faces Gary Challenges

Dr. Gordon L. McAndrew, Superintendent

"Providing the best possible educational program for every Gary student with the amount of money available is the biggest problem I face," said Dr. Gordon McAndrew, new superintendent of Gary Schools. Obtaining funds to improve education was one of his major goals.

Merging of Edison, Froebel, and Tolleston into West Side High school showed a country-wide trend away from small neighborhood schools. Tension rising over boundary disputes concerning West Side resulted in a brief boycott. Federal funds were obtained to form a human relations committee to help forestall a recurrence of this kind.

Dr. McAndrew expressed a desire to lessen regimentation and to introduce discussion of current issues and situations into classrooms.

A shortage of qualified teachers for Gary schools concerned the superintendent. Remedies suggested by Dr. McAndrew include higher starting salaries, decreased class size and increased facilities and resources.

Gehring, Harris Join Mann Administration

Filling the position vacated by Mr. Harold Scholle, Mr. Lawrence Gehring joined Mann's administrative force at the beginning of the second semester last year, coming from Iowa. Mr. Rufus Harris replaced Mr. Otha Porter.

Mr. George Grigsby and his new associates made changes in routine at Horace Mann. A minute more passing time was gained by eliminating the seven-minute homeroom meeting, formerly held between second and third class periods. Pupils reported to homerooms on notice from the office.

Report cards and teachers' class books showed changes in length of grading periods, ten weeks instead of six, thus cutting report periods from six to four.

Mr. Lawrence Gehring peruses the 1968-69 school budget.

Haiku Poetry Explains Promises of Mann

Horace Mann in the spring with budding trees and green grass symbolized Mannual's theme, "Promises of Mann." Students entering Mann show promise of leaving as more mature and knowledgeable young people.

Haiku poetry on divider pages explained promises fulfilled in each section of the yearbook.

Opening the social season with the year's first dance, staff members and guests danced to the music of the Six Pack. A subscription to Mannual and Mann-U-Script was drawn by Martie Johnson, holder of the lucky number, to open the sale of publications. Both staffs advertized in classes, wore publication tags and sold after school.

Meeting deadlines plagued Mannual staff, even though they met daily during the last period to work on the yearbook. Mrs. Genevieve Ernst as advisor, aided the staff.

The forty-first edition of Mannual was published by Newsfoto Publishing Company.

Members of the staff, Robin Rider, Sophie Lachowiec, Sunday Kurtis, Pat Flood, Nancy Norwaish, Sue Darnell, Kally Tsangaris, and Jeri Lockhart work on layouts.

Debbie Karski, layout editor, Bob Shaevel, copy editor, and Barb Young, editor-in-chief, give typist Kathy Martin instructions at once.

With money in hand, business managers Randy Weiss and Sue Medwell record sales of the day.

Sitting: Bob Shaevel, Deb Johnson, Randy Weiss, Sue Darnell, Kally Tsangaris, Debbie Karski, Nancy Norwaish, Marie Del Busto, Connie Moore. Standing: Leslie Rosenfield, Joan Tobin, Pat Flood, Sunday Kurtis, Robin Rider, Sophie Lachowiec, Barb Young, Bob Poogach.

Quill and Scroll Honorary Inducts Fifteen

Fifteen junior and senior journalists, initiated in February, joined five previous Quill and Scroll members of the international honorary. Officers were Barb Young, president; Nancy Norwaish, vice president; Debbie Karski, secretary; and Sue Medwell, treasurer. Sue Gillette became a member last year.

Mrs. Linda Fendley, Mann-U-Script advisor, and Mrs. Genevieve Ernst, advisor to Mannual, selected the students according to the requirements set by Quill and Scroll. The candidate must be a junior or senior, must rank in the top third of his class and must have one semester of yearbook or newspaper production experience.

The inductees were: juniors, Susan Darnell, Pat Flood, Kally Tsangaris, Randy Weiss, Marie Del Busto, and Deb Johnson; seniors included Bob Shaevel, Sunday Kurtis, Robin Rider, Sophie Lachoweic, Rocky Fraire, Connie Moore, Bob Poogach, Leslie Rosenfield, and Joan Tobin.

Debbie Karski, secretary; Nancy Norwaish, vice president; Barb Young, president. Not pictured is Sue Medwell, treasurer.

Trio of Plays Produced by Drama Club

With entertainment as goal, Horace Mann's Drama Club presented three productions during the year. Beginning in October with Moliere's Scapin produced for the junior class, the nineteen members followed with Anouilh's version of Antigone. The Miracle Worker completed the Thespians' schedule.

Meeting daily in the auditorium, Drama Club and Mr. McKim, new faculty member, cultivated the theatrical talents of the members.

Bob Rewerts served as president with Helen Curtis in the vice-president's role; Secretary Kathy Baker and Treasurer Terry Pillar also held office.

Mr. McKim applies makeup to Shirley Malavazos for her role as Hyacinthe in "Scapin."

Girls' Club Adds to Project Schedule

New activities such as a car wash and a bake sale were added to the Girls' club agenda by new sponsor, Mrs. Nadine McDowell. Girls' Club and Mrs. McDowell also retained the previous program consisting of the Turn-a-bout, a dance to which the girls ask the boys, and the Girls' Club Mixer where the freshman girls become acquainted with the senior girls. Club representatives were selected from each homeroom and officers were elected by Girls' Club members.

Meetings were held every Tuesday after school. Officers were president, Linda Allee; vice president, Patricia Flood; secretary, Tina Saari; and treasurer, Sherry Ralph.

Forszt, secretary; Blake Green, Mary Tarkane, Debbie Noak, Donna Cutler, Philip Herrera, Terry Stage.

Speech Clubbers Welcome New Advisor

Speech Club collaborated with the sophomore class in a production of You Can't Take It With You. The group of speakers performed at the Christmas Pageant and graduation ceremonies. The club also organized Talent Parade under the guidance of their new advisor, Miss Elizabeth Ennis.

To recruit new members, Speech Club required students to audition at tryouts. Candidates performed before members who then voted.

Robert Vurva headed the organization as president with Joel Routman serving as vice president. Secretary and treasurer positions were held by Sandy Morris and Cherie Forszt.

Mary Tarkane and Debbie Noak practice their roles as Mrs. Kirby and Alice Sycamore in You Can't Take It With You.

Social Committee Creates FLOWER POWER

Marie Del Busto, Diane Herskovic, and Mrs. Eleonor Koenig cut the stems of roses to be used for corsages on Rose Day.

Planning the calendar of activities to avoid conflicts was the task of Social Committee.

"Flower Power", a sales project which supplied each class with different colored roses, benefited the group. Seniors purchased white roses, which were worn as corsages; juniors chose yellow, sophomores had pink, and freshman, red.

Fifteen members including President Diane Herskovic, Treasurer Deborah Weaver, and Secretary Pamela White, met every Tuesday after school to keep tabs on the social schedule. Miss Janine Czarnecki met with the girls as faculty sponsor.

Club Members Experience French Customs

Acquainting members with French customs and culture through club activities was the goal of French Club.

Twenty-two French Club members broadened their knowledge by visiting Jacques restaurant in Chicago. Successful bake sales financed the organization's trips to Northwestern to view a French play and to Chicago to see a French film.

Mardi Gras, a costumed celebration, featured a French dinner in the cafeteria, prepared by chef members.

Club activities were planned by president, Maria Doxas; vice president, Sandy Kaplan; secretary, Beth Laursen; and treasurer, Mary Tarkane.

French Club met twice a month with the assistance of Miss Sally Jones, sponsor.

A display of home baked goods helped to make French Club's bake sale successful.

Front row: Maria Doxas, president; Sandy Kaplan, vice president; Beth Laursen, secretary; Mary Tarkane, treasurer. Second row: Barbara McMillion, Tina Saari, Laura Mathias, Anita Williams, Debbie

Pan Am League Attends Folk Spectacle

Spanish dancers and Spanish music combined with colorful costumes comprised Ballet Folklorico. Pan American League's journey to Chicago in February to see this spectacle supported the club's purpose to further knowledge of Pan-American culture.

At Christmas, members sang Spanish carols for the Neighborhood Youth Corps and contributed to a food drive for needy persons. The nineteen members attended a Spanish dinner. Mexican tortillas, tacos, and enchiladas were made and sold by the club; other fund-raising projects included a bake sale and a record dance.

Susan Wallace, president, and Miss Carol Smith, advisor, presided at meetings. Remaining officers were vice president, Diane Herskovic; secretary, Rosemary Sanchez; and Nadine Dobbins, treasurer.

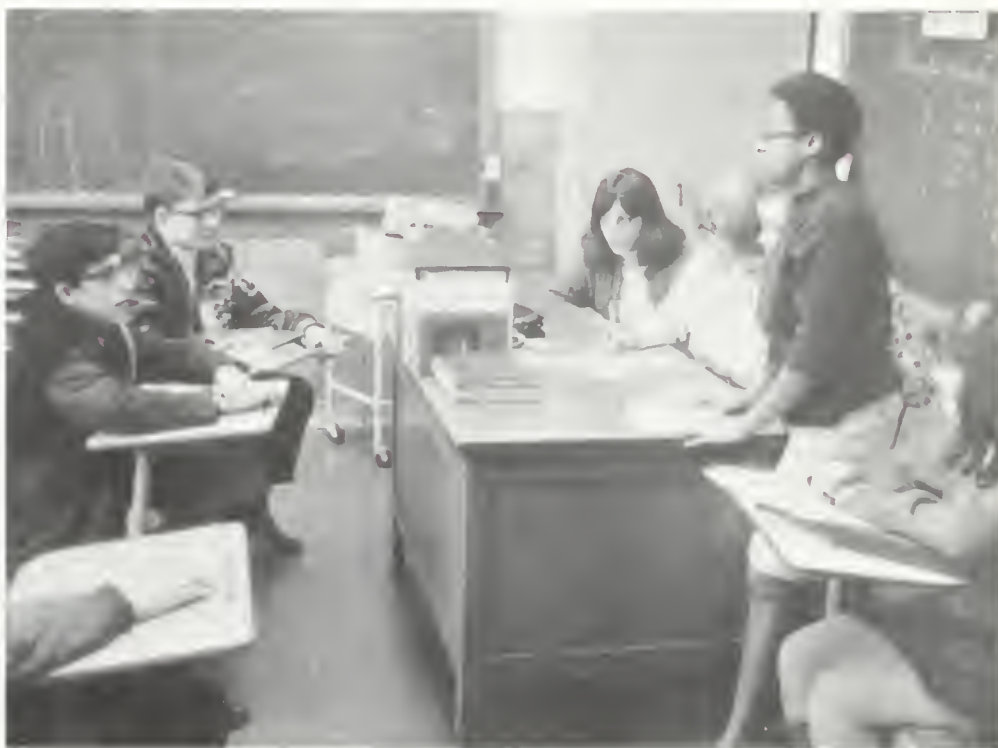

President Sue Wallace conducts the Spanish Club meeting while Nadine Dobbins and Diane Herskovic discuss the minutes of the last meeting.

Deutsch Life Examined by German Club

Ratskeller and Weihnachtsfest (Christmas party), provided insights into typical German festivities. German Club visited Chicago to attend German movies and dine on German food. An Ausflug (outing), was planned. With a variety of projects, the club complemented their class language study.

Edwina Adams served as president with vice president, Christine Kyres, secretary, Karin Mattson and treasurer, Linda Finston holding the remaining officers. Miss Georgia Bopp directed German Club.

President, Edwina Adams conducts a meeting with Christine Kyres, Karen Mattson, Demetra Apostol, and Linda Finston to make Christmas party plans.

Debaters Con Universal Military Service

President Joe Morris and vice president Robert Baran led Debate Club in its quest for the group's fourth consecutive championship. An extensive speaking schedule involving local, state and national organizations faced the contenders. According to Miss Elizabeth Ennis, two important events were the Annual Purdue University Tournament and the yearly conference tourney, both in January. In addition to Morris and Baran, secretary Vincent Stanford and treasurer Martin Klein served as officers.

The topic discussed was Resolved: That the United States should adopt a system of compulsory military service for all citizens.

Council Works to Unite Student Body

In planning Education Week and Keep-to-the-Right Week, Student Council sought to improve the school. To aid deserving person, campaigns such as S.O.S. Week, Toys for Tots, and the Viet Nam Gift Drive were held. At Christmas time, student government arranged the Holiday Ball. To express their appreciation to the faculty, Student Council gave the Teachers' Christmas Tea preceding the December faculty meeting. Sales of taffy apples and school pictures financed activities.

Tom Johnston was elected Student Council President, and Art Glazer vice-president. Robin Rider filled the newly instituted post of corresponding secretary. Officers of treasurer and recording secretary were held by Kathy Baker and Kris Knudson. Miss Alice Halpin directed the group.

Art Club Expands Students' Art World

Visits to the International Art Institute in Chicago showed Art Club's twenty members many varieties of art and aided them in artistic understanding.

Posters and displays for school events were products of Art club. President Lutfi Jadallah, vice president, Robert Stahl, secretary, Karen Gerchak, treasurer, Nancy Norwaish, assisted by Miss Carol Brunchwiler, sponsor and new faculty member, met every Wednesday after school to participate in art-oriented projects.

Human Relations Club Aids Communications

Human Relations Club promoted understanding among members by discussion of problems such as school spirit, school redistricting, and racial prejudice.

Mr. John Friel, advisor, Jannis Dilworth, chairman, and vice chairman, Dennis Roberts planned the first city-wide Human Relations Conference with the help of sixty-one members. The conference included a variety of subjects ranging from Paris Peace Talks to the right of students to disagree with school policies. The club also participated in other inter-school H.R.C. events. The co-ordinating committee, which planned group activities, consisted of De Lynne Thurman, Pamela While, and Joan Tobin.

Ceremony of Carols Sung by Choristers

Forty robed carolers accompanied by Barbara Young playing the harp presented Advanced Choir's Winter Concert. Madrigal singers added an international flavor by singing carols from other countries such as Here We Come a Wassaling, an English carol, and Still, Still, Still in German.

Advanced Choir practiced daily to prepare programs including Winter Concert, Spring Musical, Twilight Concert, and to accompany the Senior Honor Society assembly, and Commencement.

Officers were: president, Rick Galic; vice president, Robin Rider; secretary, Donita Swisher; and treasurer, Sunday Kurtis. Miss Mary Clark directed the group.

Don Eklund and Robert Stahl concentrate on harmonizing with the rest of Choral Club during a rehearsal for Winter Concert.

Rick Galic and Karen Sangerman rehearse for Young America Sounds Off.

Singing Christmas carols on the afternoon before vacation, Choral Club serenades the school under Miss Clark's direction.

Latin Club Experiences Classical Events

Three projects marked the calendar of Latin Club, which Mrs. Margaret De Leurere guided. Fall featured a "slave auction" at which new members were inducted by being sold as slaves. Reenacting the most important ancient Roman Festival, the annual Saturnalia was celebrated with Emerson's Latin Club. City and State Latin conferences and conventions sponsored by Junior Classical League of which the club is an affiliate completed the schedule.

President Nicki Demetrakis and vice president Linda McGee directed thirty members at biweekly meetings where interests in Classical literature, culture, history, and language were promoted. Secretary Charles Parrish and James Traeger, treasurer also served.

History Club Members Tour Wax Museum

Carol Nemtuda, Betty Pukazek, Sue Darnell, Peggy Chidester and Rosa Santos anticipate sights in the Wax Museum in Old Town in Chicago.

To broaden its members' horizons through exchange of ideas, History Club met weekly under the guidance of Mr. James Coughias to discuss a variety of subjects; among these were today's politics, framing of the Constitution, and the Civil War. In the fall, the club visited the London Wax Museum in Old Town, Chicago. Finances were provided by a candy sale.

Luis Ortiz officiated as president while Rhea Appel served as vice president. Other officers were secretary, Carol Nemtuda; and treasurer, Jim Bertino.

Newspaper Features Student Adventures

What's happening? A glance at Mann-U-Script produced the answer. To inform and to entertain students and faculty, the newspaper utilized students experiences, relying on articles about student trips and seminars. Coverage of club news was curtailed. Feature stories on a variety of subjects were staff written, "There's Thumb-thing for Everyone", a satire on thumbs by Jo Tobin, for example.

Mrs. Linda Fendley, advisor, worked with a ten-member staff headed by Jo Tobin on the bi-weekly paper. Debbie Johnson and Leslie Rosenfield teamed as news editors, and Jeff Hales served as business manager. Bob Poogach reported sports. The staff met daily in the East building basement. Journalism I classes occasionally contributed news stories and features.

Soloists, Ensembles Perform in Concert

Serving the school in many ways, Horace Mann's Band participated in an array of activities. Aside from putting "pep" into pep rallies and providing halftime entertainment in football games, the band entered contests, performed concerts and aided causes.

Two important competitions included the Solo and Ensemble Music Contest and the State Music Contest. Such programs as the Jazz Concert, the Christmas Pageant, and the Spring Concert featured the musicians; also presented were performances in the Gary Music Festival and at Vohr, Ambridge, and Chase Elementary schools. Memorial Day and Little League Parades further exhibited the group's talents. Other activities were Symphony Tag Day, fund-raising for new uniforms, and the Union Trust Fund Enrichment Program, an aid to underprivileged students.

Business Club Readies Future Employees

In appreciation of employers' participating in their program, Business Club held an Employer-Employee banquet. With films and guest speakers appearing at biweekly meetings, the club aimed at fulfilling its purpose: developing student leadership abilities, making members competent in office occupations and sharpening interest in the American business system. The club provided duplicating service for the faculty. President Patrice Heizer and vice-president, Aleja Santos presided at the meetings with secretary, Hilda Perez and Evelia Salazar, the treasurer, also holding office. Mr. William H. Coon organized and guided Business Club.

Boosters Projects Stimulate School Spirit

Claudia Barnhouse, Cindy Sourles and Pat Wisneski put up Spirit Sign on the stairway.

Pep rallies, hall signs announcing games, yell block meetings were spirit-promoting projects planned by Booster Club. President Connie Moore; vice president, Donnalee Martinson; secretary, Gayle Fromm; treasurer, Donna Cutler; historian, Debbie Noak; and nineteen members guided by sponsor, Miss Sherry Kaczmarczyk, met every Tuesday to plan these activities.

Christmas cards for faculty members, the yearly Kings' and Queens' Dance and the Who's Who Dinner were additional projects conducted by Booster Club.

Orchestra Presents Snowflake Serenade

Concert and intermediate orchestras in their first joint musical program presented Snowflake Serenade. Groups performed separately with intermediate orchestra playing first and concert playing second. A spring concert was also prepared.

Field trips to Ball State University's music department, Midwest Orchestra Clinic, Youth Orchestra of Greater Chicago Concert, motivated forty aspiring musicians to improve their musical performances.

Commencement ceremonies and honor society inductions were accompanied by the orchestra as was the advanced choir musical.

Officers were president, Darrell Lewis; vice president, Donnalee Martinson; secretary, Mater Boyd; treasurer, Arlene Bryant, and Librarians Michele Lewis and Juan Perez. Mr. James Beavers directed.

Pigskin Players Produce Peaks, Valleys

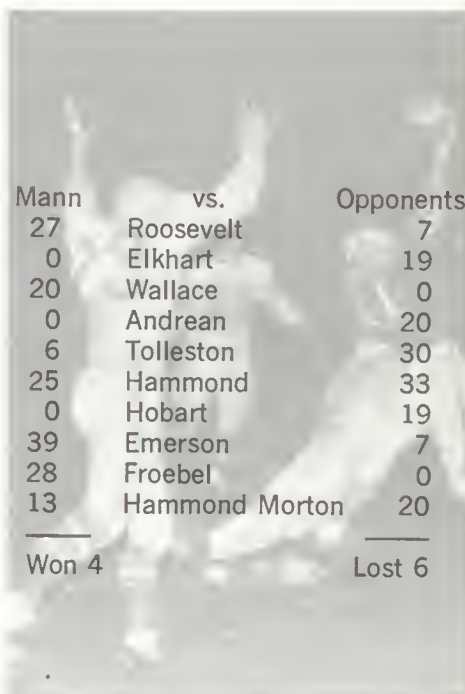

Dizzy from frequent ups and downs, Horace Mann's gridders completed 1968 football with a four and six record.

Early victory in Football-O-Rama set the stage for the initial skirmish against Roosevelt. Pouncing on the Panthers with strength and precision, the gridders ended a six-year famine against their foe. The hope of a perfect season soon passed as the Horsemen met the first of five top-ranked opponents, Elkhart, and lost by three touchdowns. By walloping arch-rival Wallace 20-0, Mann regained momentum. Andrean, Tolleston, Hammond Noll, and Hobart—all among Indiana's elite—proceeded to outscore Mann, who dropped deep below an even slate.

Aroused by four consecutive setbacks, the Horsemen trivialized the Tornadoes of Emerson at Homecoming; they furthered their triumph total by flattening Froebel with the second whitewash of the season, 28-0. Hammond Morton then foiled the footballers' finale with a second half surge.

Captain Jim Kendig and Backs Zeke Bradley and Monte Witherspoon led the team's infantry attack while the passing combination of Fred Sanchez to Frank Taylor threw the adversary off balance. Heading a defensive unit which held each defeated foe to seven or fewer points were Seniors Art Glazer and Bob Renslow.

HM Netters Volley for Winning Season

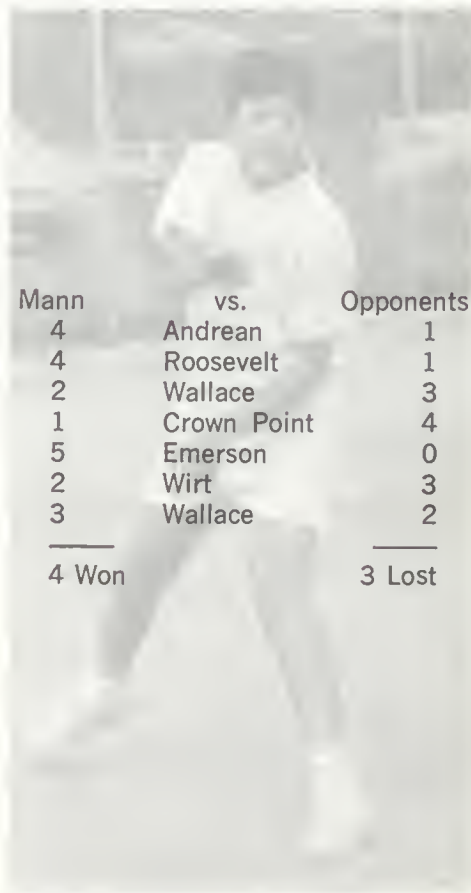

Led by first singles player Bob Poogach, who was elected Most Valuable, the tennis squad netted a four and three record in dual competition. Captain Poogach won the individual singles title in sectionals and city honors. Terry Loh and Art Katz comprised first doubles with second doubles consisting of Steve Kraft and Bill Strang, Dave Lakin played second singles. Newcomers Bob Forszt and Dean Johnson shared the third singles position.

Swimmers Splash to Conference Crown

Winning eight of nine meets, Mann's mermen achieved the conference title, steamrolling all opposition but highly-ranked Portage. The season included the first triumph in six years over perennially strong Wallace, 54½-40½. Leading the team were captain, Al Garcia, and senior lettermen, Bill Belle, Robert McMillion, Jeff Hales, Mike Huerta, Art Katz, Steve Kraft, Jim Sullivan, and Marty Vegh; underclass lettermen included leading point-getter Randy Weiss with a count of 74, Richard Flora, Bernie Konrady, Jeff Landsman, Len Predaina, Jim Ashbaugh, George Downs, Robert Miller, Steve Friedman, and Kenny Carr.

Horace Mann's cross country squad, hurt by ineligibility and lack of depth, stumbled to a 1-4 record in dual competition. Loss of athletes to Vocational school accounted for the harriers' poor showing. The team lost its first four meets before countering with a victory over East Gary.

Coach Jack Hobbs awarded letters to underclass men including juniors Luis Olmo, John Brugos, Phillip Walker, Earl Puckett, and sophomore Danny Bowman. Belle and Exom shared captain spot; Exom received most valuable team member award.

Cagers Net Second in Holiday Tournaments

The final tally showed thirteen wins, eight losses, for a .619 percentage. For the first time in years, Horace Mann's fighting Horsemen finished "in the black", winning five more games than they lost.

Led by Coach Jack Hobbs, the five starters proved accurate shots from the field and boasted balanced scoring. Captain Ray Billingsley led the team with a near twenty points per game. Billingsley, Monte Witherpoon, Verdell Davis, and Danny Gibson all maintained double figure outputs, with Zeke Bradley providing needed depth.

After an opening setback to Crown Point, the surprising Horsemen rolled to five consecutive victories before the holiday tourney; a pair of second-place finishes marked the midseason contests. Facing a tougher second half schedule, the Horsemen struggled to a 10-8 mark. Finishing strong, the netters swept their final three contests over Emerson, Portage and arch-rival Wirt.

Warren Gamble Repeats as State Champ

Horace Mann's perplexing grapplers, fulfilling high pre-season hopes, fared well in tourney competition after a 3-7-2 dual record.

Co-captains Warren Gamble and Bob Renslow teamed with George Rivas in winning individual sectional honors. With Paul Ramos and Fred Sanchez notching consolation victories, the wrestlers went five for five on the final night to nudge Portage 59-57. Second place in regionals followed.

At the state meet, Bob Renslow placed third and Warren Gamble successfully defended his state crown to lead the squad to fifth place. In doing so, Warren completed a starstudded career; he was state runner-up in both his freshman and sophomore years. Last season, compiling a 20-0-1 record, he won the state 127-pound title. Extending his unbeaten string to 53, he was victorious in all his 26 matches this season.

Two-Way Meets New to Golf Schedule

Senior lettermen: Bob Shaevel, Bob Vurva, Bill Babjak.

Fifteen dual matches, more in any previous year, marked Horace Mann's golf schedule. Replacing triangular meets, the two-sided confrontations afforded the golfers more outings and about an equal number of decisions. In addition to their regular schedule and sectionals, the linksmen competed in the Dyer Invitational and the Gary City Meet at South Gleason Golf Course.

Led by four returning lettermen, Coach Jack Hobbs' squad sought improvement on last year's dismal 1-14 mark. Seniors Bill Babjak, Bob Shaevel, and Bob Vurva teamed with Junior Frank Stacy to form the varsity's core; a number of reserves rounded out the squad.

Indoor Preparations Ready Tracksters

Guided by Coach Robert Webb for the first time, track became the third sport to undergo a managerial change. In order to prepare themselves for their spring competition, track members resorted to romping through main building halls when snow still clung to the ground.

Hurdles were set up on the third floor for needed pre-season practice.

Bestowed with a nucleus of returning lettermen, Coach Webb's crew strove for an improved record, holding their first organizational meeting at the end of February.

Baseball Nine Directed by Coach Uecker

With Mr. Thomas Uecker managing his first squad, Horace Mann's baseball team tried for Northwest conference honors. Pre-season seers predicted Tolleston and Lew Wallace to be major obstacles in the Horsemen's path. Coach Uecker had a solid nucleus of nine returning lettermen to work with. Seniors were Bill Strang, Allan Linde, Bob Rewerts, Gordon Lind, Ray Cortazar, Mike Huerta and Fred Sanchez; underclassmen Rich Flora and Raul Rivas rounded out the roster of lettermen.

Holding the first official meeting at the beginning of March, the squad soon sharpened their reflexes with indoor exercise. Later, Coach helped fielders iron out rustiness developed over the winter and batting practice sharpened the baseballers' hitting efficiency. Intrasquad games improved both.

Cheerleading Tryouts Yield Squad of Twelve

Cheerleader tryouts, consisting of leading cheers before a committee of teachers, concluded with the selection of six varsity and six reserve cheerleaders. Girls led designated cheers and included an original cheer in their performance. Contestants needed a C+ scholastic average and physical stamina to qualify for tryouts.

Captain Connie Moore, Aleta Davis, Debbie Noak, Barbara Hubbard, and Donna Cutler and reserve cheerleaders Captain Pat Flores, Mary Jean Kennedy, Claudia Barnhouse, Paula Wirick, Joy McDuffie, and Judy Kitowski attended a week's summer workshop at Indiana University. Participating in these sessions taught the girls new cheers and ways of generating enthusiasm.

Practice every Monday, supervised by Miss Sherry Kaczmarczyk, who trained the girls, helped cheerleaders maintain condition for the sports season.

Varsity cheerleaders Donna Cutler, Barbara Hubbard, Aleta Davis, Connie Moore, Debbie Noak, and Gayle Fromm lead the crowd in a victory cheer.

Wallball, basketball, volleyball, swimming, and spring sports such as tennis and soft ball were offered by G.A.A. to its members. To achieve membership girls participated in at least one sport. Each girl earned one hundred points in her chosen sport to retain membership.

In addition to dues, G.A.A.'s treasury was increased by a dance, a bake sale, and a sale of Horace Mann Seals.

Officers were president, Gizella Nagy; sports coordinator, Mary Troupos; and secretary-treasurer, Nilda Torres.

Donnalee Martinson and Sharon Gibbs await signal to begin a game of wallball.

Participation Increases for Class of '74

Completing their first year at Horace Mann, seventh graders involved themselves actively in the life of their school. Working with eighth graders, members of the class of '74 prepared signs and hall decorations for Homecoming.

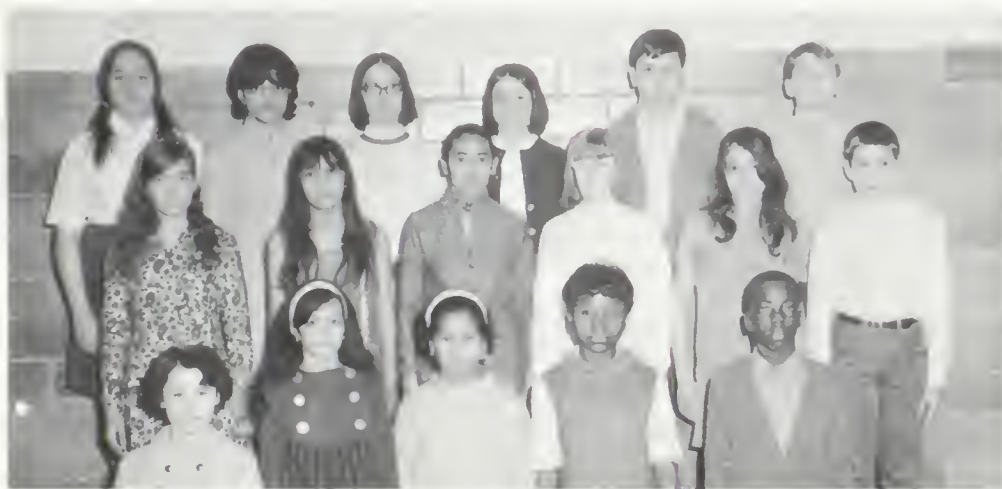

Participating in Junior Student Council, seventh grade members, under the direction of second-year members, gained experience and knowledge of council procedure.

Achievements by seventh graders in scholastic standing and regular attendance were acknowledged with an assembly in May honoring students with a B average and those with perfect attendance. Pupils received certificates for these accomplishments.

Rules Decided by Junior Student Council

Tom Gerchak, secretary; Mike Gault, vice president; Nick Hanzivasilis, president, and Norbert Martinez, treasurer review last week's minutes.

Proper behavior and good citizenship were stressed by Junior Student Council members. New rules including being quiet and attentive at auditorium programs and following the dress code at social functions were circulated to junior high school students.

The Junior Student Council kept previous responsibilities and gave the May Dance, an affair for seventh and eighth graders. Council members extended holiday greetings to the faculty at Christmas Breakfast featuring rolls and coffee for teachers in the lounge.

Presiding over meetings Mondays from three to four was Nick Hanzivasilis, assisted by vice president, Michael Gault, treasurer, Norbert Martinez, and secretary, Gary Shepard. Miss Iva Fritz, advisor, helped the council toward its goals.

Class of '73 Participates in Spirit Week

Included for the first time in Spirit Week, part of Homecoming celebration, eighth graders contributed actively in supporting the Horsemen. Students met after school to draw signs and make posters.

Responsible for conducting Junior Student Council, eighth graders headed council projects and prepared seventh grade members to assume their council posts.

As potential freshmen, members of the class of '73 campaigned for class officers and elected their leaders for their first high school year.

Norbert Martinez plans his high school schedule with the help of guidance counselor, Mr. Robert Mayotte.

Freshmen Reduce Class Meeting Schedule

Attempting to cut the number of class meetings which had been held weekly, freshmen met only when officers deemed it necessary.

Selling tickets for Freshman Homecoming festivities increased the class of '72's treasury. Their efforts were climaxed with a tied football score.

Freshmen completed their first high school year with the election of class officers for the ensuing year.

This year's officers were president, Ruben Maldonado; vice president, Janet Pole; secretary, Rose Morillon, and treasurer, Pamela Luna.

Freshman Homecoming Ends in Deadlock

In an evenly contested match, the freshmen gridders fought to a 13-13 homecoming standoff with Emerson. Starting fast on strong running by quarterback Paul Ramos and half-back Greg Spencer, the Horsemen soon moved into the lead. First Spencer and then Thomas Moore notched touchdowns; however, just before halftime, Emerson retaliated to narrow the 13-point margin. Finally, in the last quarter, the Tornadoes again crossed the goal line to close the scoring and tie the game.

Freida Hicks reigned as queen and received a dozen roses after the game. Her court was composed of Alice Lopez, Nancy Renta, Jody Stanerone, and Luz Torres.

Reserve cheerleaders, Judy Kitowsky, Pat Flores, Claudia Barnhouse, Paula Wirrick, Mary Jean Kennedy, and Joy McDuffie stimulate the crowd with their cheering.

Sophomores Present AUTUMN RENDEZVOUS

Queen Rose Morillon is surrounded by excited freshmen and sophomore students.

Flowers of gold and brown, an archway of white and gold streamers, and a wishing well greeted couples attending "Autumn Rendezvous" held in the girls' gymnasium.

Produced by the sophomore class, the Freshmore entertained freshman guests with music by the Jet Set. Students were served punch.

Voting during the week of the Freshmore selected both freshman and sophomore candidates for Kings and Queens. Freshman Queen Rose Morillon was attended by Kings Robert Orlich and Paul Ramos, a result of a tie in votes. Sophomore Queen and King were Linda Williams and Calvin Thomas.

Sophomores Cater to HM Sweet Tooth

Salesmanship was shown by sophomores in the candy sale. Betty Elser sold $393 worth of candy for first place. Darrick Puckett stood second, with a $349 total. Money will be used to finance next year's prom.

Presenting the Freshmore enabled members of the class of '71 to work together and come to know one another.

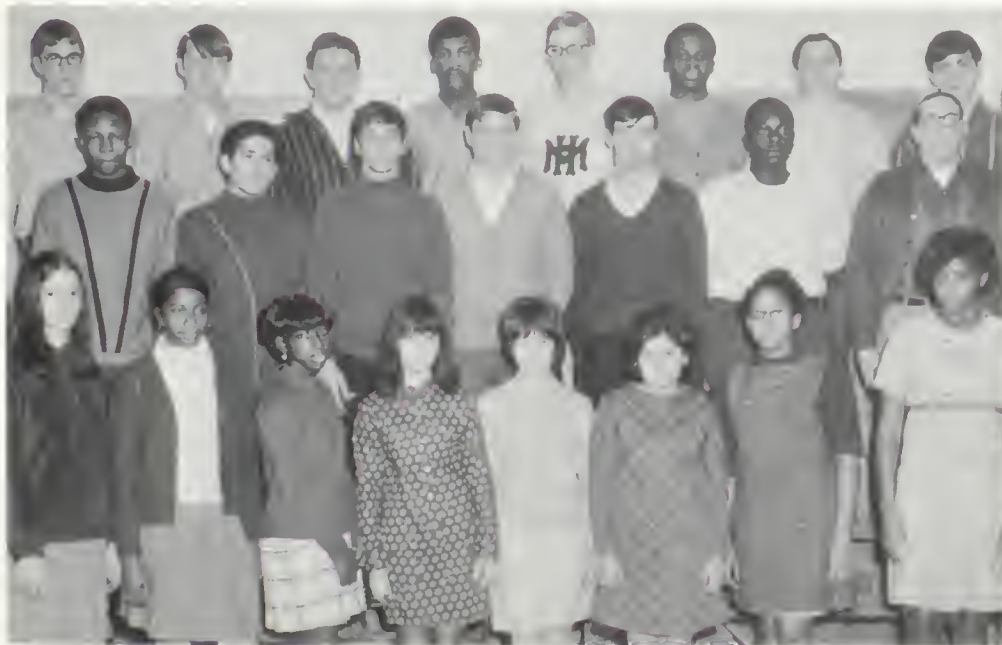

Generating class and school spirit concerned sophomores. Preparing for pep sessions and Spirit Week helped them develop enthusiasm for their school.

Officers were: president, Henry McGee; vice president, Sandy Kaplan; secretary, Lydia Gross; and treasurer, Pat Flores.

HM 'Ballroom' Scene of Holiday Dance

Winter Wonderland, the theme of the Holiday Ball, was created by snowflakes hanging from black streamers and lengths of silver chain, setting off a huge ornamented Christmas tree. To reduce expenses, the dance changed from Hotel Gary's Crystal Ballroom to the Girls' Gym, nicknamed the "Horace Mann Grand Ballroom." Thirty couples danced to the music of the Phantoms.

Steve Bowen, Lorraine Morillon, Rose Morillon and Dan Shacaroff enjoy the atmosphere at the Holiday Ball.

Trimming the tree, the major decoration of the dance, combines the work of many Student Council members.

Couples stand in line for the traditional grand march.

Mann's O-Rama T.D. Outdistances Others

Longest touchdown pass in Gary's twelfth Football-O-Rama, seventy-three yards, was lofted by Sophomore Charles Dethloff to Halfback Zeke Bradley. The six-pointer helped down Roosevelt's Panthers 7-0. In the initial skirmish, Tolleston battled the red and white to a scoreless tie.

Football-O-Rama, continuing in recent format, divided the eight participating Gary schools into North and South divisions. Teaming with Mann on North were Froebel, Emerson, and Newcomer West Side. Wirt, Tolleston, Wallace and Roosevelt played opposition. In spite of Mann's tally, the South triumphed, 20-7 behind 14 Wallace points.

Jane English was crowned O-Rama queen at halftime, and Jennifer Micu, runner-up. Five candidates were nominated; the girl selling the most tickets achieved royalty.

Jr. Honor Society Expands Membership

Lighted candles, gold for scholarship, blue for service, green for leadership, and white symbolizing character, marked the induction of Junior Honor Society members. Sophomores and freshmen having B average and appropriate teacher recommendations became new members.

Strictly a merit organization, Junior Honor Society had no meetings other than an election of officers. Doug Weeks became president; vice president, Donna Shingle; treasurer, Kally Tsangaris, and Gayle Fromm, secretary, also served. Mr. Frank Roman was sponsor.

Juniors Unified by Committee Projects

Meeting every Wednesday after school, Juniors planned the class activities for the school year.

Presenting the Prom was the chief responsibility of the class of '70. Committees headed by class officers and representatives planned pre-prom and post-prom activities as well as the prom. In charge of decorations was Donna Shingle, of pre-prom parties, Molly Miller and committee head for selection of orchestra was Jane English.

Promoting class cooperation and unification was high on the officers' program. Committee activities such as decorating for sports events and presentation of a victory flag to the school at the homecoming assembly brought students together.

Junior officers were president, Debbie Johnson; vice-presidents, Donna Shingle, Dennis Roberts; secretary, Linda Flowers; and treasurer, Jane English.

Affairs Forum Hands Mann Zambia Role

Political games in which each high school represented a nation in the United Nations with Mann as Zambia, were among the activities for the members of World Affairs Forum. Students discussed world events and formulated political and economic views from the standpoint of their assigned country.

Scholastic standing in social studies and teachers' recommendations helped sponsors and previous members select three junior and three senior members.

Mann representatives were Joe Morris, Vince Stanford, William Kosarch, Debbie Johnson, Kally Tsangaris, and Dennis Roberts. Meetings were held monthly at Horace Mann. Mr. Michael Brown advised the Horace Mann group.

Dennis Roberts and William Kosarch lead in a discussion of current events in Zambia.

Octavio tells Arcantio, his father, the fact that he has secretly married Hyacinthe.

Make-up Shirley Malavazos wears helps to depict the part she plays.

Nerine tries to reason with Scapin when she learns of his plans.

Scapin describes to Octavio his plan to procure his father's money.

Love Is Blue Theme for Junior Prom

Prom committee heads were: Donna Shingle, decorations; Doug Weeks, tickets and bids; Jane English, orchestra; Rosemary Kacedan, guest book and chaperones, rules and regulations; Dennis Roberts, budget; Beth Hogg, pictures; Molly Miller and Rosalie Steiner, pre-prom, and Jane English and Linda Flowers, post-prom arrangements. Linda also headed publicity.

Mrs. Bernadette Fissinger and Mr. David Williams guided the juniors' efforts at hospitality. Johnny Nolan's orchestra provided the music at the formal dance.

Dick Nestor, Robin Rider, Bob Vurva, and Roz Weiner assemble to lead the Grand March.

The Grand March highlights the Junior-Senior Prom held at Marquette Pavilion.

Couples conclude the prom festivities with the traditional Grand March.

Parents and friends watch couples from the balcony.

Class of '69 Acquires Variety of Honors

Senior Honor Society had thirteen members inducted as juniors: Kathy Baker, Robert Baran, Debby Berger, Kris Clifton, Beth Cutler, Mike Kolbert, Steve Kraft, Terry Loh, Joe Morris, Robin Rider, Robert Vurva, Sue Wallace, and Richard Wilkinson. A trio of these—Bob Baran, Joe Morris, and Robert Vurva—reached Merit Scholarship examination semi-finalist rating.

Jim Kendig, Warren Gamble and Connie Moore were among those chosen as Students of the Month; Kendig, Gamble, and Terry Loh were elected Boys' State representatives; Robin Rider, Sue Medwell and Gizella Nagy attended Girls' State. Kristin Clifton won Spanish study in Mexico in the Indiana Honors Program. The Fire Prevention Contest brought recognition to Julio Russi, and Sophie Lachowiec achieved the Daughters of the American Revolution award.

Dedicated Mann Breezes Past Tornadoes

Horace Mann's fighting Horsemen capped a week of determination with a 39-7 blitzing of city foe Emerson. In a rare offensive show, Mann mixed four scoring aerals with two ground tallies. Senior Zeke Bradley was recipient of three of Fred Sanchez' touchdown passes with Frank Taylor gathering in the other. Interspersed were infantry strikes from Monte Witherspoon and Captain Jim Kendig; the defensive team completely stifled every Tornado attempt.

During half-time, Barb Young was crowned 1968 Homecoming queen. Her court consisted of Paula Johnson, Libby Galic, Connie Moore and Janis Dilworth.

Twirp Week Begins Mr. Irresistible Day

Sponsored by Girls' Club, Twirp Week included two new fads on its schedule. Bow Day, girls wearing large chiffon bows in their hair, was added. Because Valentine's Day was not far off, Mr. Irresistible Day was introduced in Twirp Week schedule. To elect Mr. Irresistible, club members sold paper hearts. The girls wore their hearts until they spoke to a boy, thus losing the heart. The boy who collected the most hearts was announced as Mr. Irresistible at Turnabout.

"Twilight in Tara" was the theme of the semiformal dance climaxing Twirp Week. Held in the girls' gym, the dance required the girl to invite the boy, pay for tickets, pictures taken at the dance, and boutonnieres. The boys supplied transportation and refreshments.

Linda Allee and Sue Chenowith criticize decorations for Twirp Week.

Barbara Hubbard fulfills her Twirp Week commitment by carrying Rich Flora's books to class.

First Educational Orbit Flown by Seniors

Four years ago, eager, reluctant junior high students became Horace Mann Freshmen. First floor lockers, a paper drive, and Freshman Homecoming marked their inaugural year. Second year reminiscences included a candy sale, production of Our Town, and Freshmore entitled "Shine on Harvest Moon. Junior prom preparations for "Garden of Eden" took time; class rings and West building lockers were important. Junior play, The Mouse That Roared, and Spirit Week decorations with the winning car rounded out the year. During the final stretch, Frank Borman Day was celebrated. Antigone, senior class play, and Kings and Queens arrived and departed. May brought the prom. Three milestones marked the end of high school careers: Recognition Day, Baccalaureate, and graduation. Mr. David Dickson and Miss Elaine Gorney guided the class of '69.

In remembering their final year, Mann seniors might recall the beginning of the Nixon years, but chances are that man's first trek to the moon will come to mind. High school is the preliminary orbit where one checks the equipment and maneuverability of his craft. Upon the orbit's completion, he embarks upon his venture. To the astronaut, it is the moon; to the student, it is life.

Grads Reach First Educational Milestone

In the span of history, Thursday, June 5, 1969, was only one day; but the Class of 1969 will remember it as the day of their first educational milestone—high school graduation.

Two hundred-sixty seniors gathered at Memorial Auditorium and participated in Commencement exercises. Wearing grey caps and gowns, the graduates watched Principal George Grigsby, Dr. Gordon McAndrew, Superintendent, and the School Board direct ceremonies. Choral Club and Speech Club contributed songs and readings. Each girl carried red roses on her trek down the aisle. The top forty scholars led the students to the stage; remaining pupils followed in alphabetical order.

Near the end of the program at Mr. Grigsby's command, tassels swung from right to left; students became alumni.

Heading the class scholastically was valedictorian, Michael Kolbert; salutatorian honors went to Steve Kraft.

Diamond

This photo is an enlargement of a diamond as it would be seen through our Diamondscope®. We find this instrument invaluable in detecting a diamond's "inner secrets." What does this mean to you? That at our store we know and guarantee the quality of every diamond we sell—added assurance of full diamond value.

Acknowledgement

Without the assistance and encouragement of many persons, the MANUAL would never have come out.

Special thanks go to Mr. Harry Bortz for his time, patience, and pictures.

For the many phone calls and late notices for the bulletin we thank Miss Dorothy Piske. Miss Verone Sokol furnished class lists, scheduled pictures, and told us the people in the pictures when we didn't know their names. Miss Alice Halpin and Student Council sorted Indiana School Pictures; to them we owe special thanks. We're grateful to Miss Betty Spychalski for use of her typewriter when no other was available, to Al Garcia and Mrs. Bernadette Fissinger for identifying hundreds of pictures, and to Mrs. Linda Fendley for her assistance in the theme section. To Mr. George Grigsby, Mr. Lawrence Gehring, and Mr. Rufus Harris we express our thanks for their ready support and constant backing.

Speaking now as editor, I must thank the members of my staff for their unselfish efforts and willing co-operation throughout the year. A special word of thanks to Jim Bertino for hours spent taking and developing pictures. Tony Nelson furnished the cover photograph and color spread. Mr. Dick Kennard took the title page picture of our windows. To Sue Medwell, her official title was business manager, but the multitude of services she rendered the staff and to me was legion.

Mrs. Genevieve Ernst was our faithful advisor who stood by us in thick and thin. Mere thanks are not enough to repay her for all the long hours of proofreading, arranging, and correcting copy.

We hope pleasure will be gained from reading this book; the staff has enjoyed compiling it. May our subscribers not only look for their own pictures, but also recognize their roles as the Promise of Mann . . .
